TIME AND PLACE FOR PEACE CONFERENCE

Will Be Named As Quick As Parties Are Agreed.

CASSINI VISITED PRESIDENT

Fake Reports Say Hitch Has Occurred—Prince of Japan May Act for Mikado—Russia Not Decided on Representative.

Washington, June 13.—Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, had a half hour's conference with President Roosevelt yesterday. At its conclusion Count Cassini returned at once to his embassy, declining to discuss in any way the object of his visit.

That the conference related to the reply of the Russian government to the proposition made by President Roosevelt last Friday is known, but whether Count Cassini presented formally the response of Russia could not be ascertained. It can be said, however, that the reply of the Russian government already had been received by the President before his interview with Count Cassini.

The place of meeting for peace negotiations is being discussed.

MEERSCHAUM PIPES.

A Test by Which to Tell the Genuine From the Spurious.

Once upon a time there was a man who spent eight of the best years of his life coloring a meerschaum pipe, only to find at the end of that period that he had been nursing a piece of "massakopfe" instead of the genuine "ecume de mer." The "massakopfe" is a composition made of the parings of genuine meerschaum and a mineral clay. The parings are triturated to a fine powder, boiled in water and molded into blocks, with or without the addition of clay. Each block is then cut into a bowl, but as it contracts considerably it must be left some time to dry. These bowls are distinguished from the genuine meerschaum by their greater specific gravity, but there is no absolutely certain test by which the real meerschaum can be told from the composition.

In forming a pipe from "ecume de mer" the silicate of magnesia is prepared for the operation by soaking in a composition of wax, oil and fats. The wax and oil absorbed by the meerschaum are the cause of the color produced by smoking. The heat of the burning tobacco causes the wax and fatty substances to pass through the stages of a dry distillation, and, becoming associated with the products of the distillation of the tobacco, they are diffused through the substances of the bowl, producing those gradations of tint which are so much prized. In some cases the bowls are artificially colored by dipping them, before being soaked in wax, in a solution of sulphate of iron, either alone or mixed with dragon's blood.

Good meerschaum is soft enough to be indented by the thumb nail. It yields readily to the knife, especially after having been wetted. There are various densities. Some kinds sink in water; others float on the surface. Those of medium density are preferred by the pipe maker, for the light varieties are porous and even cavernous. Many judges assume that the heavier kinds are spurious, but there is no absolute proof that such is the case. A negative test may be mentioned. The composition bowls never exhibit those little blemishes which result from the presence of foreign bodies in the natural meerschaum. Therefore if a blemish occur in a meerschaum bowl, which is very frequently the case, the genuineness of the bowl is rendered somewhat probable. But as blemishes do not show until after the bowl has been used for some time the test is not of much value.—New York Press.

A Sample of the Sea.

On his return to Cadova from a visit to Mar del Plata, where he had seen the sea for the first time, Pedro returned with him a bottle containing a small flask of sand from the shore and a flask of salt water to enable those who had never seen the sea to form some idea of what it was like. We have subsequently met [illegible] who have [illegible] the sea [illegible]

SWISS SCHOOLS.

The Course of Study and the System of Training.

The education given in the schools of Switzerland is in many respects more comprehensive and practical than that offered in our curriculums. The girls, for instance, are taught not only to read and write and spell, but to cook, to wash, to sew, says the Housekeeper. In addition to being trained for the duties of homemaking and housekeeping, each girl is taught some useful trade. Many of the pupils are daughters of rich parents, and there is little likelihood of their ever having to earn their own living, but the paternal government takes the view that every member of society should possess the ability to be self supporting even though the necessity to exercise that ability should never arise. No expense has been spared in equipping the schools of Switzerland for the teaching of domestic science.

The boys, too, have not been neglected in the Swiss system of education. Physical culture and manual training have prominent places in the curriculum, and every boy on leaving the public school is equipped to earn his own living. Fads and frills are absent from the Swiss schools. The hard headed taxpayers want to see some return for their money. They demand that the education for which they pay shall be practical and useful in after life. Are they not right?

WHO IS INSANE?

No One or Every One, According as We Ask the Question.

Who is insane? No one or every one, according as we ask the question. No one in an asylum will admit that he or she is insane. Each in turn would resent such an insinuation. Certainly no one out of an asylum will assent to the charge of being insane. And yet both parties readily recognize the insanity of others. An intelligent old lady, once the head of a ladies' seminary, wished me to discharge her from an asylum, alleging that all the patients in the hall believed her sane. Seven women were privately asked their opinions as to her sanity, and all declared that she was very insane, while asserting their own sanity. When informed of the result of the test the old lady accurately described the special peculiarities of each of her accusers. So in every community the private gossip is much concerned about those who are called "strange," "peculiar," "deranged," "unbalanced," "light headed," "a little off," "out of gear," "wrong in the upper story," "cranks." Few if any escape for a lifetime one or the other of these epithets. Without as within the asylum no one recognizes his or her own mental deviations, but readily detects the mental aberrations of others.—Stephen Smith, M. D., LL. D., in Leslie's Magazine.

A WONDER OF RANGUN.

The Great Shoay Dagon Pagoda Covered With Pure Gold.

Rangun, the principal city of Burma, grew up around the sacred spot on which is built the great Shoay Dagon pagoda, one of its principal wonders. "Rising to a height of 360 feet, its size is greatly enhanced by the fact that it stands on an eminence that is itself 166 feet above the level of the city," says a writer. "It is covered with pure gold from base to summit, and once in every generation this gold is completely renewed by public subscription. Yet throughout the interval the process of regilding goes on perpetually. Pious people who seek in this way to express their veneration and to add to their store of spiritual merit climb up daily with little fluttering packets of gold leaf, which they fasten on some fraction of its great surface. There is no more picturesque sight offered by it than that of a group of these silken worshipers outlined high against its gold in the act of contributing their small quota to its splendor. The pagoda itself has no interior. It is a solid stupa of brick raised over a relic chamber."

Man and the Universe.

Sir William Ramsay, the great English scientist, said: "All our progress since the time of Sir Isaac Newton has not falsified the saying of that great man that we are but children, picking up here and there a pebble from the shore of knowledge, while a whole unknown ocean stretches before our eyes. Nothing can be more certain than that we are just beginning to learn something of the wonders of the world in which we live and even our

DUEL TO THE DEATH FOUGHT ON TRAIN

Foremen of Rival Contracting Parties Engage in a Quarrel.

PISTOLS WERE FREELY USED

One Man Dead and Another Quite Badly Wounded—One Has His Jaw Broken and Another Shot in Neck. All From Tennessee.

Knoxville, June 13.—In a bloody pistol duel near Jellico, on the Louisville-Atlanta L. and N line, Charles Reed was killed and Alla Blakemore will die.

The men were foremen of rival contracting parties near Jellico. Bitter feelings were engendered, culminating in the duel on the train last evening. The men grappled with each other, each placed his pistol against the other's breast and fired four shots.

Reed died soon with two bullets through the abdomen.

Blakemore has a broken jaw, is shot through the neck, left breast and arm, and his home is in Alabama. Both are young and unmarried.

A NOTABLE DWARF.

The Witty Debut of Borulwaski, the Famous Little Pole.

A very notable dwarf was Borulwaski, the Pole, of whose debut the following story is told: As a boy of fifteen, when he was just one inch higher than a two foot rule, he was presented to the Empress Maria Theresa, who was so charmed by his grace and good looks that she seated him on her lap and gave him a hearty kiss. "And what do you consider the most interesting sight in Vienna?" she asked the boy. "What I now behold," he answered. "And what is that?" "Why," said the tiny courtier, "to see so little a man on the lap of so great a lady." Naturally a youth who exhibited such a ready and courtly wit had a distinguished career before him. From that day Borulwaski became the pet of the courts of Europe. He was a special favorite of Stanislaus II., who took him to England and introduced him to George III. and his family, and for more than half a century he made his home in England.

Borulwaski, who at his tallest was a yard and three inches high, had a sister whose head was just level with her big brother's shoulders. He was not only a handsome and courtly man, but a scholar of repute. He lived in five reigns and was laid to rest in Durham in 1837 side by side with the Falstaffian Stephen Kemble.

ST. KILDA ISLAND.

The Natives Have Colds Only When Visited by Foreigners.

There are many places where it is impossible to catch cold because there is no cold to catch. There is St. Kilda, that lonely rocky island which was visited by Dr. Johnson when he and Boswell were making their famous tour of the Hebrides. There are about a hundred inhabitants on the island. The coasts are so precipitous that for eight months in the year it is practically inaccessible. Several vessels from the mainland call there during the summer. And, strange to say, whenever a ship reaches the island from the mainland every inhabitant, even to the infants, is seized with a cold. This fact has been known for more than 200 years and was of great interest to Dr. Johnson, who was skeptical concerning it.

The question of this St. Kilda cold long puzzled men, who never dreamed that it was an infectious disease and that without the possibility of infection it is impossible to catch it, no matter what the exposure may be. That is to say, it is due to a micro organism, and without the presence of this micro organism the disease cannot be contracted.—New York Herald.

WOOD CUTTING AS SPORT.

Championship Sawing and Chopping Matches in Australia.

At many of the agricultural shows, which in the up country districts of Australia and New Zealand are fixtures of the utmost interest and importance to those engaged in pastoral pursuits, the tree felling contests provide the chief excitement of the day. Throughout the Australian bush there are to be found axmen so expert that their achievements are the subject of discussion for miles around, and it is at the agricultural shows that these giants of the game meet to decide the local or international championships.

The competitors take up positions by the stumps allotted, and when the signal to start is given the long handled, keen edged axes flash downward to the opening stroke. The cooper round a cask is but a sloth to these brown skinned, brawny woodsmen, who with marvelous accuracy and strength strike up, down and straight until the hard wood chips fly in showers from the smitten tree. To him who in the best time most cleanly decapitates the stump the prize is given. The sawing contests, which are hardly less exciting, depend upon the evenness and speed of the cutting, and for the man who thinks he knows what a hard day's work is a share in sawing through a thirty-six inch iron bark log in a temperature of 120 degrees or thereabout would be the most perfect disillusionment imaginable.—London Tatler.

A VERDICT IN RHYME.

The Suit Was In Jest, but the Fine Was In Earnest.

An interesting verdict was rendered in the district court of Travis county, Tex., in 1857.

The defendant, Frank B. Rafer, at that time a well known citizen of Austin, was accused of gambling, which was not regarded as a very serious offense in Texas in those early days, especially if the offender chanced to be a prominent citizen.

The prosecution was generally treated as a pleasant jest, but was nevertheless carried through in earnest, and a jury composed of lawyers brought in the following verdict:

We, the jury, lawful men,
Fine the defendant dollars ten;
A guilty man beyond all doubt,
Let the defendant pay himself out.
Thus we've said this freezing morn,
Your obedient servant, A. O. Horne,
Foreman.

The composition of this verdict is attributed to A. W. Terrell, who at the time of his service on the jury was a young lawyer. Afterward he attained great distinction in practice, served as a district court judge and was United States minister to Turkey under President Cleveland.

Other members of the same jury who afterward achieved renown were Charles S. West, who rose to be a justice of the Texas supreme court, and F. W. Chandler, who became one of the leaders of the Texas bar.—Law Notes.

He Was Loyal to His Friend.

Coventry Patmore's talk, as Mr. Gosse describes it, was apt to be startling. Behold an example:

In the presence of a number of men of letters Patmore mentioned an accomplished writer who was an intimate friend of his. The conversation passed to the lyrical poems of Herrick, whereupon Patmore, in his most positive manner, exclaimed, "By the side of ——, Herrick was nothing but a brilliant insect!" There was a universal murmur of indignant protest. Patmore pursed up his lips, blinked his eyes and said nothing. The conversation proceeded, and an opinion of Goethe's was presently quoted. Then Patmore lifted up his voice and cried, "By the side of ——, Goethe was nothing but a brilliant insect!"

Toed the Mark.

Did he actually ask old Roxley for his daughter's hand?"

"Yes, and he claims he compelled the old man to toe the mark."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, but he was the mark."—Philadelphia Press.

The Explanation.

"Oh, no, she isn't going to accept him."

"Then, why does she encourage him?"

"Why, because there isn't any one else to encourage."—New York Press.

Outlaws Attempt to Drive Off Cattle in Idaho and a Pitched Battle Ensues on the Plains—Ranchers Saved Their Cattle.

Blackfoot, Idaho, June 13.—Later reports from the Jackson's Hole country indicate that the recent battle between ranchers and outlaws was more sanguinary than was indicated by the earlier reports. It is now stated that six persons were killed, four outlaws and two ranchers.

Several horses were killed during the fight, five being shot down.

The ranchers succeeded in saving the cattle which the outlaws were trying to drive away.

RED AND GRAY SQUIRRELS.

The Males of Both Species Are Incorrigible Fighters.

A very quarrelsome disposition has the chickaree, or American red squirrel, and there are continual fights between it and its cousin the gray squirrel. These fights seldom end in a decided victory for either side. The males of both species are incorrigible fighters. It is no unusual sight to see a couple of red or gray squirrels come tumbling from some lofty limb so locked in each other's embrace as to appear almost like one animal.

Though the shock of striking the ground separates them, it is for a moment only. They immediately clinch again and continue to roll over and over, fighting fiercely until one breaks away, only to be followed by the other, who keeps up a running fight for some distance until he feels certain that he has so punished the conquered one that he will not dare return.

Red squirrels by their greater agility and quickness can worst a gray squirrel every time in a running fight, but let them once come to a clinch and the superior size and weight of the gray squirrel are bound to tell.—Chicago News.

The "Thin Rice" of the Chinese.

The very first thing that a Chinaman takes when he gets up in the morning is a bowl of hot "congee," or, as he calls it, "thin rice." This is simply rice boiled away to a thinnish drinkable consistency. If allowed to cool it would thicken into paste. Some care is required to make it properly. "If the water is visible and not the rice," says Yuan Mei, "that is not congee. If the rice is visible and not the water, that is not congee either. The two must be indistinguishably blended before you can call the result congee."

ANOTHER BIG SALE OF SEA ISLAND

Dutton & Co. Disposed of Five Hundred Bales Recently.

BOUGHT BY EASTERN SPINNERS

Only a Few Hundred Bales of the Old Crop Left, Which Are Not at Present Offered on the Market—Prospects Good, and Some Cotton in Bloom.

Another important cotton deal has been consummated in this city, H. F. Dutton & Co. having sold within the past day or two to Eastern spinners five hundred bales of Sea Island cotton, aggregating nearly a quarter of a million pounds, at the market price. The product was transported by rail to Brunswick, from whence it will be shipped by water.

There are only a few hundred bales of the old crop left on hand, and most of this is customers' cotton, and is not offered for sale at present.

From reports received from the surrounding country, it is safe to say that about all the Sea Island left in the interior are 200 bales being held at Fort White, about 600 at Alachua, 300 bales in Gainesville, some 150 bales in various points in Levy and about the same number scattered throughout Alachua county, aggregating 1,400 bales, which are not at present being offered on the market.

Up to Saturday night the prospects in Alachua county were never better, 90 per cent of the acreage planted being thoroughly cultivated and free from grass. Stands as a rule are good, a great deal of the cotton showing bloom. About one-half of the cotton planted is a week or ten days in advance of last year's crop at this time.

In some sections crops begin to want rain, and if the heavy rain which fell in this section Tuesday prevailed throughout the county the benefit will be great and lasting.

PICNIC AT BLAND.

Sunday School of That Section Will Have Day's Outing—A Marriage.

Bland, June 13.—There will be a basket picnic given by the Methodist Sunday school of this place, at the famous Cool Springs, on Thursday, June 22. There will be ice cream, sherbert and lemonade on sale, the proceeds to be used for the purchase of an organ for the Sunday school. There will also be a few addresses. Everybody is invited, especially the Sunday schools. Cool Springs is one-quarter of a mile north of the Bland postoffice.

Our little village is growing fast, with new buildings constantly going up.

J. L. Matthews has the lumber (or a part of it) on the ground to build a handsome store. The one he is now using has proved to be entirely too small for the extensive trade he has.

On Sunday, the 28th of May, at 3 o'clock, O. G. Russell and Miss Jessie Bennett were united in matrimony at the home of the bride's parents at this place, Rev. V. H. Ellis officiating. The bride was a very popular and beautiful young lady and the groom is a very popular young man and clerk for the firm of J. L. Matthews.

The weather is very dry and hot. The corn crop has suffered from the drouth, and if we do not get rain in a few days the crop will be cut short in this section. Cotton crops are doing fairly well. The acreage is about the same as last season, but not as good on an average; but Major Green don't fail to spread himself.

Mrs. Liddon of Ocala and her daughter Elsie are visiting her brother, J. L. Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush of High Springs were visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dupuis.

Made a High Average.

The friends of Miss Susie Hunter of this county will be pleased at the information that in the recent teachers' examination in Brevard county, held at Titusville, she made a general average of 98 for a first grade certificate, which was the highest average made by any contestant.

Miss Hunter is one of the brightest and most competent teachers in the State, and has enjoyed remarkable success wherever she has taught. She was employed in the Fort Pierce school, Indian River, last term. She is now visiting friends at Courtney, but expects to go to High Springs in a few days.

INTERESTING BRONSON LETTER.

Educational Matters Looking Up in Levy—Other Notes.

Bronson, June 13.—The trustees of Bronson High School met Thursday for the purpose of selecting teachers for the coming term and for the transacting of other business. A full board, consisting of W. H. Anderson, C. A. Lindsay and W. R. Coulter, were present, as was County Superintendent S. Phillips.

It was decided to pay the principal of the school a salary of $90 per month, the assistant $50 and the primary teacher $40.

Miss Willie Heagy was placed in nomination for assistant and Miss Zellie Overstreet for primary teacher. They received the unanimous endorsement of the board. The selection of the principal was left to Superintendent Phillips, who will consider applications for the position.

Provision was made for painting the school building, rebuilding the fence and otherwise improving the property.

The eleventh and twelfth grades will be included in the course this year and the prospects of the coming term are exceedingly bright.

Twenty-two white and one negro applicant were present at the teachers' examination last week.

The grading committee consists of Prof. J. W. Shelly, Miss Jane Sneller and Miss Marion Kerr. The result of the examination will be made known this week.

The property of the Wylly-Gabbett Company will likely be sold the first Monday in next August by Receiver Owens. Among the property is 42,000 acres of land, two saw mills, three locomotives and seventeen miles of tram road.

A number of citizens attended the annual picnic at Levyville last Friday from Bronson, among them Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Epperson, Mrs. J. H. Jacobie, W. H. Anderson, Jr., and Sheriff E. Walker. It is estimated that 400 people were present and the occasion was one of the most pleasant of the season.

Tax on Babies.

Extreme hot weather is a great tax upon the digestive power of babies. When puny and feeble they should be given a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the children's tonic. It will stimulate and facilitate the digestion of their food, so that they soon become strong, healthy and active. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Jonesville Jottings.

Jonesville, June 13.—The melon and cantaloupe crops through this section are almost a failure. Nevertheless, some of the growers say they are going to try them again.

Rev. S. W. Sheffield filled his regular appointment at this place Sunday.

Theo. Hill has resigned his position with Dr. A. R. Williams on account of ill health.

We are sorry to learn of Miss Laura Dudley's illness. We trust that she will be able to attend Sunday school soon.

Farmers around here are very much disheartened on account of the dry weather. If we don't get rain soon we will not make any corn.

In the Sickroom.

In a sickroom open the door promptly without rattling the handle.

Walk in quietly, but do not take ostentatious care to glide in absolute silence. Don't pause and murmur inquiries to the nurse, but go straight to the bed and speak in a clearly audible, everyday tone to the patient.

Choose topics of interest that will entertain without being exciting, leaving a few new ideas with your invalid as food for pleasant reflection after your leave taking, and making only a passing reference to the present malady.

Look as fresh and pretty as the power in you lies, and thereby act as an unconscious tonic to your friend. Avoid any article of dress that jingles or rustles.

Having risen to say goodby, go instantly without lingering over last words or pouring forth exaggerated condolences and hopes.

The House of Lords.

The house of lords was composed chiefly of clerics until the time of Edward III. Thus in 1295 the peers were ninety spiritual and forty-nine lay members, including twenty archbishops and bishops, sixty-seven abbots and priors and three masters of orders. Many clerical dignitaries summoned did not attend at Westminster, refusing to recognize the authority of parliament over their own convocations of Canterbury and York. It was partly from this cause that the lords spiritual decreased in number until early in the reign of Edward III. the upper house consisted of eighty-six lay and only forty-five clerical peers, while during Elizabeth's parliament there were forty-three and twenty-six respectively.—London Standard.

The Rate of Human Growth.

"We grow at a uniform rate," said a physician. "There are rules of growth that unconsciously we all obey.

"Take the average man. He grows as follows: "First year, eight inches; second year, six inches; third year, five inches; fourth year, four inches; fifth year, four inches; sixth year, four inches. From the sixth on the growth is slower until the sixteenth year—it is only one and a half inches a year. The seventeenth year has a growth of two inches. The eighteenth year has a growth of one inch. At eighteen the average man is five feet eight inches high. Thereafter he grows no more."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

An Odd Industry.

One of the strangest of modern industries is that carried on in the Jura district in France. It consists in taking the fur from live rabbits and weaving it into a textile fabric which makes the warmest kind of clothing material known. The species of rabbits which furnish the raw material for the manufacturing process is the Angora rabbit, which has received the name of the silk rabbit. Every three months the rabbit sheds its fur, and several days before this takes place nature is anticipated by female hands, which remove the long silken hairs by gentle friction. The skin is already "ripe," and the fur comes off easily and without the rabbit suffering the slightest pain from the operation. In fact, bunny appears to enjoy it, lying quietly in the lap of the operators during the manipulation.—London Globe.

Women's Headaches

542 1-2 Congress Street.
PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902.

I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pain would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain.

Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Snow
Treasurer, Portland Economic League.

Headaches are the danger signals of coming disease. Both men and women suffer headaches, but periodical headache falls only to the lot of women and is the unerring sign of irregular menstruation and bearing down pains. Completely prostrated by nine months of suppressed menses, blinded by headaches and racked with pain Mrs. Snow was made a strong and healthy woman again. Remember with Wine of Cardui no case is hopeless because this great remedy cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases and never fails to benefit a case of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, try Wine of Cardui, and try it now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness. Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

C., and the bridesmaid, Miss Fannie Miselle, Melrose, the matron of honor, Mrs. Ella M. Marshall, Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, the bride and her father, in the order given, through the south door opening into the library. At the conclusion of the ceremony there was an informal reception and a delicious buffet supper served.

The decorations throughout the house were designed to perfect a color scheme of green and white. In the northwest corner of the parlor where the wedding took place the bride and groom stood beneath a broad arch which was covered with moss and inlaid with ivey and white roses. A bank of moss dotted with ferns and lilies formed the background.

In the dining room the decorations were artistic and in exquisite harmony with the finishings of the room. The long table at which the bridal party sat, had its center piece in a beautiful bunch of Marechalniel roses. The windows were draped in moss and ivey, while the mantle and doors were made rich with the fan palmetto.

The bride, who is one of the fairest of Alachua's daughters, was in her wedding gown a lovely picture of youth and beauty. The gown was white silk trimmed in point aplique lace. The veil was adjusted with a circle of orange blossoms and she carried a boquet of white roses tied with tulle.

The bridesmaid wore white silk mull trimmed in the new embroidered lace.

The maid of honor wore light green silk trimmed in point d' Alencon lace.

The matron of honor wore a white silk trimmed in point aplique lace, and a touch of gold.

The bride is the stepdaughter of Major C. P. Huffman, who before retiring from active business life was one of the leading merchants of Philadelphia. She is a member of the distinguished Coward family of South Carolina, one of the oldest and most prominent families of the Palmetto State. She is a young woman of noble character, sweet disposition and fine intelligence, and takes with her to her new home at Live Oak the best wishes of a host of admiring friends.

The groom is a leading business man of Live Oak, where he is universally esteemed.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left for a six weeks' trip to Darlington and other points in South Carolina.

Many beautiful presents were received, quite a number from friends in the North and East and South Carolina. Without any breach of propriety, the magnificent solid silver cake dish, presented with the compliments of four bachelor friends of Live Oak, may be noted.

Among the out-of-town guests present were: Mrs. Ella M. Marshall, Canonsburg, Pennsylvania; Mr. W. G. Hare, Live Oak; Mr. W. J. Oakes, Marion, S. C.; Prof. Erie Hall, Miami, Fla.; Capt. Geo. M. Lynch, wife and children, Gainesville, Fla.; Misses Laura Aycock and Pet Wells, Worthington Springs; Miss Snow Ward, Barnesville, Ga.; Miss Lena Rogers, Darlington, S. C.; Dr. and Mrs. Curtis, ...nge Heights.

...e Delivery and Collection Service Being Improved.

With that energy for which he is to be commended, Postmaster Arnow is endeavoring regularly to improve the service. The latest improvement will be the extension of the free mail collection, the number of boxes being increased from twenty-four to thirty-four.

Postmaster Arnow has received ten new boxes, two of which are known as the combination package and letter box. These boxes will be placed at convenient places on the square, and in future patrons may mail their packages without walking to the postoffice, which will prove of great convenience, to say nothing of the saving of time Heretofore it has been impossible to post bulky packages on the street, only letter boxes being in commission.

In speaking of the new proposed rural free mail delivery route No. 2, the postmaster stated that the proper papers had been forwarded to the postoffice department at Washington, and that the route may be established at any day. This will afford two rural routes, and others will be established from time to time as rapidly as the requirements to secure same can be made.

Dying of Famine

Is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at all drug stores. Price 50c and $1 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

ARCHER HAPPENINGS.

Interesting Budget of News from That Thriving Town.

Archer, June 13.—Mrs. Curry and baby are guests of the Magnolia Hotel this week; also Mrs. Wyman of Bradentown, who is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Marion Smith has gone to Atlanta to visit her daughter, Mrs. Fleming Winecoff.

The Ladies' Aid Society gave a social and ice cream supper at the hall on Friday for the benefit of the manse fund.

Mrs. McEachern of Meredith was shopping in Archer on Friday.

Bessie and Mrs. Marion Smith of Dutton were visiting friends in Archer this week.

Albert Anderson, who has been clerking for Fleming & Son, has resigned his position and will take a short vacation before taking a business course this fall.

Dr. McMillan has purchased the practice and good will of Dr. Underwood at Montbrook, also purchasing the drug store. He will be associated in the drug business with Albert Hancock of that place.

Miss Alda Bauknight has returned home from Meridian, Miss., where she has been teaching for the past year. Her brother Frank and sister Ruby and little Miss Louisia Trimble went to Gainesville to meet her. Miss Alda's many friends were delighted to see her.

A Bad Scare.

Some day you will get a bad scare, when you feel a pain in your bowels, and fear appendicitis. Safety lies in Dr. King's New Life Pills, a sure cure, for all bowel and stomach diseases, such as headache, biliousness, costiveness, etc. Guaranteed at all druggists'; only 25c. Try them.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of our dear brother, Horrace K. Allen, who on June 8th, after many years of patient suffering, entered into his eternal rest.

Dearest brother, thou hast left us for thy home beyond the skies,
And our hearts are sad and lonely,
tears of grief bedim our eyes.
'Tis hard to give thee up, but God in
His mercy knoweth best,
And after the long patient years of suffering he hath taken thee home to rest.
Speak to our hearts, dear Jesus, just one comforting word of love.
Rest in peace, dear brother, in your

Economy In Spelling.

"An English professor visited this country a few years ago," said a New York merchant, "and the first thing which attracted his attention was the spelling of the word 'whisky' in an advertisement which was generously and prominently displayed from many points of vantage. The professor was accustomed to spell it 'whiskey.'

"He did not, however, question the correctness of the spelling, but was curious to know why the advertiser preferred the shorter word.

"The business man received his inquirer politely and in answer to the professor's question said:

"'Our method of spelling makes unnecessary the illumination of an extra letter in our electric signs.'"

A Generous Offer.

When Miss Helen Keller was at the exposition in St. Louis in 1904 she visited the Japanese tea house and for a few minutes shook hands with some of the waitresses, little olive colored women who spoke almost no English, but expressed their interest and intelligence without words.

Many weeks after Miss Keller had returned to Boston she heard from an official of the exposition that one of the Japanese waitresses had gone to a St. Louis physician and asked to have one of her eyes taken out and given to Miss Keller. When she was told that such a gift was impossible she wept in bitter disappointment.

A Story of Napoleon III.

Napoleon III., who had no fewer poor relatives to help on than any other sovereign, was trying one day to convince a cousin, whom he had already generously aided, that it was impossible for him to increase her allowance. The princess took the refusal angrily and as she was leaving said in a taunting manner:

"Decidedly you have nothing of the great emperor, our uncle."

"You mistake, my dear cousin," replied Napoleon, with a cheerful smile. "I have his family."

A Boston Proposal.

"Emersonia, shall we merge our twain existence into one?"

"I am not averse to such a consummation, Waldo."

"Thank you. That being agreed upon, shall we—er—er—osculate?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—The paint is the most important factor in painting. A job completed, done by a good painter, with the best quality of paint—costing say $60 00—$40 00 labor, $20 00 paint—will last fifty years. The same painter applied by a dauber ($40 00 labor, $20 00 paint) will last only ten years. Thus the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $3 00—the poor painter's, $20 00.

'Above all, USE GOOD PAINT!

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

THE BOARD OF CONTROL.

The decision of the Supreme Court that no member of the Legislature is eligible to appointment as a member of the Board of Control created by the Buckman bill, was no doubt a great relief to Governor Broward. Had not such opinion been rendered there is little doubt but that he would have deemed it incumbent upon him to appoint at least a member each of the House and Senate on the board, and thus make those who were instrumental in enacting the measure responsible for its success or failure. The decision of the Supreme Court, however, leaves the Governor free to select the board without consideration of the claims of those who took an active part in the passage of the bill.

The decision of the court is in line with the editorial published in these columns June 9th, citing the Constitutional provision that "no Senator or member of the House of Representatives shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed or elected to any civil office under the Constitution of this State, that has been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time."

It is also in keeping with the contention of learned attorneys, during the primary campaign of 1904, that certain candidates for State offices were ineligible for the reason that they were members of the Legislature which had increased the emoluments of the office to which they aspired.

No doubt some of the supporters of the Buckman bill, who desired to be appointed on the Board of Control, are sorely disappointed at the decision. Because there is no remuneration attached to the office they believed they were eligible to appointment, but the highest tribunal in Florida has decided that "an office is an office, pay or no pay," and The Sun points with pride to the fact that it was the first paper, if not the only one, to call the Governor's attention to the matter.

CLEANING CARS.

In accordance with the suggestions of the State Board of Health, railroad companies in Kentucky have made radical changes in the method of cleaning passenger cars and in the interior arrangements of cars. At present no cars leave terminals of the different roads in the State until they have been thoroughly cleaned and ventilated. Cuspidors have been placed in the smoking cars and in other day coaches and the heavy curtains have given way to light hangings which do not catch the dust.

The cars on these roads are not allowed to run over forty-eight hours without being cleaned. Sleeping cars are also renovated by a steaming process that is intended to kill the germs, although it would not seem possible for them to survive very long in some of those hard bunks.

Gainesville thinks that the Buckman bill was a stab at the other State schools; that the bill was passed with the hope of killing off the other schools and building up a big State school at Lake City. Just to show the boys a thing or two, Gainesville will make an effort to secure the location of the school at their town. It looks as if other towns will also bid for the location of the school, and it is possible that fine buildings will be erected by the successful contestant.—DeLand Weekly News.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA.

The Ocala Banner has the following under the heading, "Location of the University of Florida," which will be read with interest:

"If Lake City shall lose the University of Florida it will be largely her own fault and she will have herself to blame. Almost since the birth of the institution the lives of its presidents have been made as "uneasy as the head that wears a crown."

"From Kost to Sledd—a period of more than twenty years—it has almost been a continuous repetition of the same story.

"Dr. Andrew Sledd, the present head of the institution, son of a distinguished Virginian, son-in-law of the eminent Georgian, Bishop Candler, and as grand and pure a man as ever put foot on Florida soil; a man of great intellectuality and strength of character, and by education and training splendidly fitted for the position he occupies, was held up to public censure in the Florida Legislature by one of Columbia county's own representatives.

"The institution is a veritable 'fiery furnace,' through which its presidents and officials are made to pass like the Hebrew children of ancient times.

Kost, Kern, DePass, Clute, Yocum, Taliaferro, Sledd, etc., like Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, have in turn had to pass through the furnace.

"Lake City has permitted the institution to become mixed up in its local politics and factional fights, and in consequence of which, its hands have not been upheld by its people and its usefulness has been hampered and at times almost paralyzed.

"Here recently when the attack was made upon it by the legislative visiting committee and it wanted defenders on the floor of the Legislature, its home representatives were its worst detractors. It was sorely wounded in the house of its friends.

"The people of Florida, outside of Lake City, are beginning to feel that the University ought to be located where it will not be subjected to these constant perils; where it will be more loyally upheld and where all will pull together as one man for its success.

"Gainesville and other cities are working strenuously for its location and are offering magnificent inducements."

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '98, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Resolutions on the Death of Miss Margaret Robertson.

At a meeting of the Epworth League of Gainesville, Florida, June 5th, 1905, the following resolutions on the death of Miss Margaret Robertson were adopted:

Into the presence of the Great I Am entered the spirit of Miss Margaret Robertson, May 29th, 1905.

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty, in the exercise of His providence, to remove from us by death our loved and esteemed member and we shall know her in this life no more forever; and

Whereas, We, submissive, bow to the will of Him out of whose hands are the issues of life and death and who doeth all things well; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Miss Robertson the League has lost a true and valued member and the community a noble young lady, and while we express our deep sorrow at this loss and extend to her family our sincere sympathy and condolence, we also realize that in the life to come we shall journey by the River of Life and with her hear the blessed words of the Master: "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." Therefore, we commend her unto the care of Him who hath said: "Blessed are they who die in the Lord."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the bereaved family and a copy be recorded in the minutes of the League, also a copy be sent the city papers for publication.

Huge Task.

It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease as that of C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Ia., but Electric Bitters did it. He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache, and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach." Guaranteed by all druggists; price 50c.

A Bad Imitation.

Buckstone, the popular English comedian and dramatist, was rather fond of telling the following story, although it was somewhat against himself:

One night Fechter, Sothern and Buckstone were leaving the Haymarket theater some little time after the performance was over, when suddenly Buckstone discovered a billsticker posting an election placard right upon the front of that sacred house of comedy.

"How dare you, sir!" he said in his peculiar guttural and jerky manner. "How dare you post bills upon my theater?"

The man paid no attention, but went on lathering the placard, which he put up with an air of quiet defiance.

"You miserable billsticker!" said Buckstone, his mannerism coming out very pointedly with his temper. "If you don't desist, you scoundrel, I'll have you locked up."

Whereupon the man, quietly making a closing dab at the poster, said, "I'll have you locked up, you imposter, if you don't mind, for givin' such a bad imitation of Buckstone—could do it better myself."—London Telegraph.

Stimulation Without Irritation.

In case of stomach and liver trouble the proper treatment is to stimulate these organs without irratating them. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup aids digestion and stimulates the liver and bowels without irritating these organs like pills or ordinary cathartics. It does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. J. W. McCollum & Company.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Killing time is a sure way of spoiling character.

Reverence is the foundation of lasting love.

Hatred often comes from only knowing half of a man.

The sense of duty is a sign of the divine in man.

The only sure thing about a lie is that it will never die.

It is hard for the leek to see why people prefer the lily.

Many mistake their dreams about heaven for deeds to lots up there.

After robbing Peter to pay Paul a man usually forgets to settle with Paul.

There is nothing prouder than ignorance or more ignorance than pride.

There are some so called unpolished gems that are not susceptible of being polished.—St. Louis Republic.

That Tired Feeling.

If you are languid, depressed, incapable for work, it indicates that your liver is out of order. Herbine will assist nature to throw off headaches, rheumatism and ailments akin to nervousness and restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health. J. J. Hubbard, Temple, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for the past two years. It has done me more good than all the doctors. It is the best medicine ever made for chills and fever." 50c. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Vocation and Avocation.

"Avocation" is one of those unfortunate words that are constantly being used in a wrong sense. Strictly speaking, it refers to something that calls a man away from the ordinary occupation of his daily life. If you earn your living by drafting conveyances and interpreting legal subtleties and also are often seen in leisure hours with a camera in your hand and have a dark room at home, then the law is your vocation and photography your avocation.—London Telegraph.

Acute Rheumatism.

Deep tearing or wrenching pains, occasioned by getting wet through, worse when at rest, or on first moving the limbs, and in cold or damp weather, is cured quickly by Ballard's Snow Liniment. Oscar Oleson, Gibson City, Ill., writes, Feb. 16, 1902: "A year ago I was troubled with a pain in my back. It soon got so bad I could not bend over. One bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

MOLIERE'S COURAGE.

Pathetic Story of the Dramatist's Last Stage Appearance.

There is a pathetic account of Molière's last appearance which shows the supreme courage which sickness could not dissipate and which was a part of him till death. His health had long been failing and he had suffered for years with a distressing cough, which rapidly became worse. On the day of the third presentation of "La Malade Imaginaire," 1673, he was so ill that his wife and friends entreated him not to perform. But he was deaf to their appeals. "What can I do?" he said. "There are forty workmen who have only their daily pay to live upon, and they will lose that if I do not act. I should reproach myself if I neglected to give them their bread for a single day." Though more than usually indisposed, he went through his part with great difficulty. Once during the performance the company could not but see that he was convulsed, but he passed it off with a forced laugh. When it was over he left the stage, saying to his friends, "The cold is killing me." He was wrapped up warmly, and his chair man sent to convey him to his home. No sooner was he in bed than he was seized with a violent fit of coughing, which brought on a hemorrhage, and he died before his wife could reach his side. His last words were to assure his friends that the hemorrhage was not alarming in any way and urging them to take courage.

JAPANESE MIRRORS.

Some That Are Supposed to Possess a Magic Quality.

Some Japanese mirrors are supposed to possess a magic quality, which has rendered them objects of superstitious reverence for centuries, and, in fact, it has even puzzled modern science not a little. When a strong beam of light is so reflected from one of them as to be thrown upon a screen, there appears upon the screen an image in delicate tracery perfectly reproducing the pattern engraved in relief on the back of the mirror, which, of course, is altogether hidden from the light. Inasmuch as the face of the mirror presents a surface that is perfectly smooth, apparently the reason for this phenomenon is difficult to find. Its cause, however, is simple enough. The preliminary operation of polishing the face consists in scoring the cast disk with a sharp tool in every direction.

The thicker portions, where the ornamentation in relief is on the back, offer more resistance, and the result is a corresponding inequality of the polished surface. This inequality is not sufficiently marked to be visible to the naked eye, but it is enough to turn the rays of light, and thus the pattern of the engraving on the back is reproduced on the screen in the manner described. These so called magic mirrors are so highly valued that they sell from ten to twenty times the price paid for ordinary ones.

A Peculiarity of Ghosts.

Scientific personages as well as the rest of us have always been puzzled by the degeneration of the dead both in taste and in intellectual power. No matter how fastidious a man may have been during his lifetime, he is no sooner dead than he develops a marked partiality for back rooms up two flights of greasy, rickety stairs in disreputable tenements. His favorite environment is now dirt and squalor, and his favorite companions are the ignorant and the half witted. The nature of the next world, the aching secret which the human race through all ages has eaten its heart out to know, is ignored by these modern ghosts in favor of shoestrings which they happened to leave in the corner of an old desk and which they beseech us to go and find. —Chicago Tribune.

Announcing a Meal.

Among the curious byways of social history and household custom, says the London Globe, is that which is concerned with the mode of announcing that dinner or any other meal is or shortly will be ready. The dinner bell is, of course, the oldest of these modes. In mediaeval times the monastery or convent bell rang out on the quiet country air many times in the course of the day and night, and one of the many summonses was that which drew them to the refectory. And in later ages there are frequent allusions in literature which show that the bell method was still in constant favor notwithstanding the customary use of other modes of summons.

A Thousand Dollars' Worth of Good.

"I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pain," says A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O. "I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure; then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick-dust-like substance and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1,000 worth of good." Foley's Kidney Cure will cure every form of kidney or bladder disease. J. W. McCollum & Co.

EDIBLE BIRDS' NESTS.

The Way They Are Gathered by the Dyaks In Borneo.

Edible birds nests are found in the clefts of rocks or in underground caves which are frequently of great extent. John MacGregor in writing of a bird nesting experience he had in Borneo says: "Off we went with about a dozen Dyaks, as the little bronze aborigines of this part of Borneo are called, for guides. The entrance to the cave was so small and so elevated that I had some little difficulty in reaching it. After we had traveled for some distance we came across the inevitable stream. The ground, which was to a great extent composed of the bed of the stream, was rough and irregular. We were lighted on our way by torches carried by our Dyak guides. At last we came to a passage that seemed a veritable eye of a needle, so hard it was to enter, for it looked so narrow and confined that I despaired of ever getting through it. When I fairly got squeezed into the breach I could force myself neither upward nor downward —for that was the direction of the passage—and there I was, suspended like Mohammed's coffin or a trussed fowl. By dint of wriggling, however, I at last found myself on the top of the passage, minus a certain amount of skin and some buttons from my tight fitting khaki coat.

"Still on we jogged for the best part of a mile, when, lo and behold, the caves in which the birds were breeding and which were to be the limits of our underground wanderings! A faint glimmer of light could be seen through a rift in the rocks far above us, and it was through this small rift, which was a sealed passage even to the Dyaks themselves, that the birds passed in their journeys to and from their nesting grounds. Our arrival, of course, disturbed whatever birds were there, and they disappeared as best they could. And there, for a time, we watched the Dyaks going through their gymnastics of robbing the birds' nests, with their ropes and long poles creeping along the high ridges and ledges in the lurid light of the torches like unearthly specters.

"These peculiar nests are built by a species of swallow. The nests consist of shallow, cup shaped cavities, truncated at one side, where they are attached to the rocks like brackets to a wall, and forming something like a two-thirds segment of a circle. It is not always easy to get at them, as they are sometimes glued to the perpendicular sides of the solid rocks high overhead, so that the nest hunters have to scale these crags with ropes and poles to get at them. In substance they consist of an elastic, semitransparent, mucilaginous material, which is said to be a secretion, or macerated food, from the crops of the birds themselves.

"As robbing these nests for commercial purposes forms a part of the Dyaks' means of livelihood, the birds have frequently to build twice or even three times during the season before they are able to hatch their offspring, and it is noted that each successive crop of nests deteriorates in both construction and composition. The nests built at the beginning of the season are bright and transparent and are consequently known on the market as 'white nests,' but when they are robbed the next crop is not nearly so pure in substance."

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence county, N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Shaved While He Slept.

"My first day in India," said the tourist, "I was surprised when I awoke in the morning to feel how smooth my face was.

"'By Jove,' I said, 'how slowly my beard grew yesterday! I hardly need to shave today.'

"It is, however, a matter of religion with me to shave every morning, and so I bade the native servant, a man provided by my host, to fetch my shaving things. The native smiled.

"'But you are already shaved, sir,' he said.

"'Already shaved?' said I.

"'Yes, sir,' he answered. 'I shaved you while you slept. That is the custom here.'

"I found that he was right. I found that in India these wonderful native servants shave their masters in bed every morning without waking them.

"All through my stay in India I was shaved like that. It was almost enough to keep me in that hot and torrid country forever."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MIRROR OF FATE

VENETIAN LEGEND OF THE DAYS OF THE DOGES.

Story of the Beauty Who Was Intoxicated With the Vision of Her Own Loveliness and the Statue In the Church of San Giorgis Maggiore.

Here is a legend which I heard in Venice. I offer it to all among you who are fond of solitude and silence. I offer it to you as I would offer a flower which has blossomed amid somber shadows on a sleeping lagoon:

Ghita Gherardini was the niece of the doge. Poets whose names we have forgotten, but who were renowned at that time, had composed innumerable songs in her honor. They praised in them the tresses of the young girl, black as night, in which pearls gleamed like milk white stars. They also sang about the radiance of her dark violet eyes and about the two roses which formed her lips. In truth, Ghita Gherardini was very beautiful. She had, however, listened too earnestly to the passionate words of the singers, and an immense pride took possession of her young soul.

One night she heard beneath her window the yearning sob of a lute. Standing in a motionless gondola, a lovesick page was singing to her. Tender was the music, and the water and the darkness added something to the sweetness of the strains and to the passion in the voice of the singer. The young page was glorifying her as the most radiant among all women.

Ghita heard him, and a delightful tremor ran through her. Without waiting to light the torches, which had gone out, she took her mirror and ran to the window, through which the moonlight shone into her room. Thereupon in this mysterious light she saw that she was strangely beautiful; that her beauty was indeed almost supernatural. The moonlight revealed her pale and transparent, like the princess of a poem.

Intoxicated with her charms, she let the seductive mirror slip from her hand, and a sigh of admiration and of ecstasy escaped her as she cried:

"I am beautiful! I am beautiful!"

Thenceforth Ghita Gherardini spent all her time marveling at her own beauty. She did not desire to fall in love, for she fancied that there was no man living who was worthy of her. Those songs which had no words of praise for her eyes and her hair she treated with contempt, and to the mysteries of religion she never gave a thought.

She went to high mass solely for the purpose of being seen by the people and of being flattered by them as they whispered to one another about her. The restless eyes were never turned toward the altar.

She thought of nothing save her own triumphant beauty and of the jewels which set it off in sumptuous fashion.

One day Ghita Gherardini slipped a little mirror beside the first page of her mass book, which had been delicately illuminated by a pious artist. And while her attitude of devotion edified the multitude she studied her face enshrined in the book of prayer.

The doge's niece had forgotten that the Creator alone is worthy of worship and not any of his creatures. She had also forgotten that pride is an abominable sin—aye, perhaps the most perilous of all sins—since it was the cause of the rebellion of the archangels and the downfall of Lucifer.

One day Ghita Gherardini was intently studying her face in the little mirror between the holy leaves of her mass book, and suddenly she uttered a loud cry of terror. Through the large building it rang, drowning the solemn voice of the priest, the responses of the congregation and the sonorous murmur of the organ. And straightway the doge's niece fell to the ground in a faint. She had seen reflected in the guilty mirror, the sacrilegious mirror, not her own countenance, but that of Death.

There is today in the Church of San Giorgis Maggiore, where this miracle was accomplished, the statue of a woman, who is seated and looking at herself in a mirror. Very beautiful is this woman, as beautiful as Ghita Gherardini was formerly. The story goes that this statue is the work of a famous sculptor, but the people believe—and their legends contain a good deal of truth—that it was once Ghita Gherardini herself and that her body was turned into stone by the terrible vision.

To all those who love the silence of dead cities I offer this legend. I found it at Venice as one occasionally finds a flower which has blossomed amid somber shadows on a sleeping lagoon.—Helene de Zuylen de Nyevelt in European Edition New York Herald.

Throwing the Handkerchief.

Statement copied from an old manuscript: "In the Foundling Hospital the boys are bound apprentices, the women when marriageable are conducted in procession thro' ye streets, and any young Man who sees one He wd wish for a Wife is at liberty to mark Her by throwing his handkerchief." The [illegible] requisites required previous to throwing are not stated. [illegible]

THE LEMON IN THE TEA.

It Is a Survival From Very Ancient Chinese Methods.

Whence the slices of lemon with the tea in Russia?

Okakura Kakuzo, a Japanese artist and critic, writing in the International Quarterly, says they point to a survival from very ancient Chinese methods, when tea leaves "were steamed, crushed in a mortar, made into a cake and boiled together with rice, ginger, salt, orange peel, spices, milk and sometimes with onions!"

Okakura tells also of the work of Luwuh, the poet, who in the eighth century became the first apostle of tea and wrote in three volumes and ten chapters the "Chaking," or "Holy Scripture of Tea." Luwuh instituted the code of tea and is become the tutelary god of Chinese merchants of the leaf.

According to this master, the mountain spring furnishes the best water, then come river water and plain spring water. There are three stages of boiling. The cake tea is roasted before the fire "until it becomes soft, like a baby's arm," and is shredded into powder between pieces of fine paper. Salt is put in the first boil, the tea in the second. At the third boil a dipperful of cold water is poured into the kettle to settle the tea and revive "the youth of the water." Then the beverage is poured into cups.

It was of such a beverage that Lotung, another poet, wrote: "The first cup moistens my lips and throat, the second cup breaks my loneliness, the third cup searches my barren entrail but to find therein some 5,000 volumes of odd ideographs. The fourth cup raises a slight perspiration—all the wrong of life passes away through my pores. At the fifth cup I am purified; the sixth cup calls me to the realm of the immortals. The seventh cup—ah, but I could take no more!"

"Tea began as a medicine and ended as a beverage." Also it has had rituals, ceremonies and philosophies. In Japan it became "the religion of the art of life," and "the tea room was an oasis in the dreary waste of existence." This was in the fifteenth century, and the philosophy of Tealism which then arose is described as "a cult founded on the adoration of the beautiful among the sordid facts of everyday existence. It inculcates purity and harmony, the mystery of mutual charity, the romanticism of the social order."

"Strangely enough," says Okakura, "humanity has so far met in the teacup. It is the only Asiatic ceremonial which commands universal respect. The white man has scoffed at our religion and our morals, but has accepted the brown beverage without hesitation. The afternoon tea is now an important function in western society."

Electric Light Bulbs.

While grasping a small incandescent electric lamp one night Professor Sommer, a German scientist, happened to observe that on contact with his hand the bulb of the lamp would show a luminosity comparable with a mist of light, illuminating certain parts of the glass as well as his fingers even before the electric current was completed. This phenomenon could be produced several times by rubbing the electric bulb with the hand. Not all electric bulbs are suitable for the experiment. Those which have been used for some time and which show the well known dark coating of carbon particles are especially apt to fail. After rubbing a new or nearly new lamp containing no metallic conductors strongly on the skin of the forehead or lower arm, to withdraw the lamp suddenly from the skin will cause the bulb to show the luminous phenomenon. Withdrawing the lamp and stopping it suddenly causes its outlines to stand out distinctly illuminated, while in the middle a bright spot is observed.

The Frugal Crow.

A correspondent sends to the Pioneer (Allahabad) the following notes on the fact that a case has been reported of a crow's nest having been found which was made out of telegraph wire: "Anything resembling a twig is pressed into service. In the days of old, before glass stoppered bottles came into use for soda water, many nests were made of the wires used to keep in the corks of such bottles. A nest constructed out of brandy bottle wires was once taken in a palm tree outside Madras. Another nest was found composed of bits of tin stolen from the tin bazaar in Madras. One pair of crows constructed a nest out of gold and silver spectacle frames purloined from the factory of Messrs. Lawrence & Mayo in Bombay. The materials for this nest, of which the value was 400 rupees, were stolen by the wily crows during the luncheon hour. It was noticed that the spectacle frames were disappearing from the factory in a mysterious manner, but it was some time before the thief was discovered."

The library committee of the Twentieth Century Club wishes to remind and impress upon each and every member of the club to be diligent in casting her votes in the "Free Library Contest" (at all stores giving ballots) in favor of the Club Library; also to remind others interested in this great work that the Club Library is attaining the proportions desirable for a public institution, and will one day be turned over to the town. The books offered in the merchants' contest would be a valuable addition.

LIBRARY VOTING CONTEST.

How to Secure Votes for Your Favorite Institution.

Now that the contest is on for the awarding of a library of two hundred volumes to the society or institution securing the largest number of votes, it will be of interest to all who have expressed a desire or have a choice as to which should be the possessor of this prize to look over the rules governing the voting and see how they can get votes.

The Daily Sun will give a premium of 75 votes for every three months' subscription, 200 votes for six months and 500 votes for every subscriber who pays a year in advance.

The institution that furnishes the largest number of votes in this manner we will award 10,000 votes at 7 o'clock p. m. October 10th. Here is a chance for workers.

A MORNING WEDDING.

Mr. Rembert and Miss McCook Will be Wed at Methodist Church.

At 7 o'clock this morning Mr. H. G. Rembert of Lennon and Miss Alma McCook will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony will be performed at Kavanaugh Methodist Church and it is needless to add that a large number of friends of the contracting parties will be present to witness the same. Rev. T. J. Nixon will perform the ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple will leave for points on the East Coast for a short trip, after which they will make their home at Lennon.

LYLE-MIXSON.

Two Popular Young People Will be Married This Evening.

This evening, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Mixson, Ernest Lyle of, Eve and Miss Georgea Mixson will be married, Rev. S. B. Rogers of the First Baptist Church officiating. The affair will be a quiet one, only relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties being invited.

The groom is a successful young business man, engaged in the phosphate business at Eve. The bride is one of Gainesville's popular young ladies who is well known here. Congratulations are in order.
